Using date of October 18th, our New York correspondent writes as follows respecting the trivalry between hand and water corrupe; The contest between land and water columns is inting perpettions and shapes so large and momentions as to attract the attention of scientific men. This Social Science Association has had the matter under discussion this week, and same interesting facts and figures have been given, the sum and substance of which is that the actual case of rather transposition has never week, and some interesting facts and figures have been given, the sum and substance of which is that the actual cost of railway transportation has never yet been definitely determined; that the larger the traffic line greater the proportionate profit, and that railroads can accessfully compare with the water rails in these skys of stem and electricity. This has already been demonstrated by the Pacific Entrans, whach is made difficulties, slowly but surely killing the water lines of California. Representatives of Western and other trunk rouls are arranging new time tables and revising the tariff for through freights to the Pacific coast, and I am also assured by reliable anthorities that the raise to your city, sileral, will be a little cheaper than via the lathinus. The orest of this year readers can readily understand. It is the languet pole that knocks the persimmons, and the cheapest and nest expeditions routs that gets the freight. Memorbiic, the Capetrale appears to be gradurally dying out, and some of the lines must are long withdraw, unless something shall turn up to galvasing it into temporary vibility. I say temporary, for the days of simpring anything but cheap, course freight by way of Capetron laws goon by, and are not likely to return while steam and the electric relegization continue to be the good arbitren of commerce.

the great orbiters of commerce.

The possessor arrivals at Son Francisco during the month of October, by way of the sea, numbered 1,888, of which 860 were from New York by way of Pansons, and 788 from Chins and Japan. This is the smallest number which has arrived in a single mouth in two years. The arrival by way of the Lethana are much less than for a number of years—the railroof absorbing the bulk of the traffic between the Atlantic States and this city. The passenger departures by way of the sea for the gast mouth sumbered 1,425, of which 355 sears by the Panson stead on the Comparison we so to cover the first ten months of the year, we have the following result:

It is expected that a large immi-gration from Enrope will soon be deceing in this direction by way of Aspinvati. turned out last Saturday at 4 P. M., for monthly drill. The brakes were manned. and the machines put through a few minutes pumping, to prove them as being in good and serviceable order. The crowd, as usual, gathered round and manifested great interest in the thump of the brakes and the stream of flying water. The engines look gay in their fancy paint, and are bright with care and good keeping; and the drill showed that they may be depended on in case of fire. Our Fire Department is worthy of all praise for its admirably kept up organization.

FOUND DEAD AT THE STATION-HOUSE .-Hehn, a native known as Capt. Long, who was arrested and taken to the Station-House on Monday evening for being intoxicated, was found dead in the cell in which he was confined, on Tuesday morning. Two men, confined in the cell on the same charge, could give no other account of the man than that the last they recollect of seeing him he was standing at the cell-door, looking through ion will doubt- the grating. Their rooms were filled with ladies and gentlemen, for whose entertalument, admirable arrangements had been made, so as to secure a pleasant and enjoyable evening. The parlors were devoted to dancing, the band being placed outside, near the open windows, the side rooms to card tables, while the supper room was an improvised pavilion, constructed with flags and other coverings. The table was spread with a splendid repust, being lighted in the centre by a chandelier of bayonets, which served as caudiesticks. Bouquets of beautiful flowers adorned the table and rooms. The even ing passed off pleasantly to all present, and the guests departed at a late hour.

WISDOM!!! INFORMATION!!!-In the last week's Advertiser, the following important (IF TRUE?) information is furnished by the publicists, who teach the people through the medium of that paper:

"It will be remembered that we opposed Mr. Varigny's appointment at the time it was made, mainly on the ground that he was a member of the French Legion of Honor, which is everywhere regarded as tantamount to being in the service of the French Emperor,—the decoration being a mark of peculiar favor, bestowed only on those who have shown great devotion to the French Empire."

This law was approved May 13th, 1868, at which time the Minister of Finance had been absent from the country, more than one year, and did not return until September, 1868. This fact was known to every body in the Kingdom, and to none better than the Advertiser, hence it cannot back out from the charge of a "willful misrepresentation of fact," on the threadbare trick "we learn." The slave received no wages: he was incapable of maintaining an action against his master; he could make no legal contract with his employer: 1863. make no legal contract with his employer; 1863 there could be no termination of his service except by death; he could not legally marry; he had no claim upon his children and no hold of Keoni, No. 9722. upon the woman he recognized as his wife; and he was incapable of acquiring or enjoying any estate, real or personal. If the Chinese laborer is to be reduced to this condition, even in a modified form, it will be against all the laws of Coogress and the established policy of the Republic. If the importation of these workmen is to result in any system bearing the slightest resemblance to the old, exploded system of chattel slavery, then it is our duty to stop it in the beginning. As for "the influence upon other labor."
